Department of Finance

To whom it may concern

edata India has worked with me on many occasions since 2011. Our working relationship has started with simple data conversions (pdf to csv) to more complex, large scale downloading projects.

I have used edata India and recommended it to many colleagues and friends. In particular, I recommend it for its speed and prices, the ease of communication, and its professionalism. In large scale research projects involving big volumes of data, sometimes mistakes only surface after a long time period, making re-downloads inevitable. edata India has always handled those without complaints and in a timely manner. This is rare in a fast-paced industry and has spared me with a lot of headache I'm used to from other parties.
